Georgia's FMLS licenses Exclusive Rights to Remine Listing Input, Remine Docs and Remine Agent Pro

Modern, flexible and complete MLS solution to provide a state-of-the-art listing input, transaction management and modern API's for the brokers, enabling broker innovation

(Fairfax, VA and Atlanta, GA) - Remine and FMLS (First Multiple Listing Service) announced a new partnership today that dramatically upgrades the technology, data and tools available to Atlanta-area real estate professionals. Under the terms of the deal, FMLS will provide the Remine MLS system as a member benefit. This system includes Remine Listing Input, Remine Docs and Remine Agent Pro. All functions will be provided with high availability ensuring that brokers and agents will have access 24/7 to get their business done.

Remine Listing Input enables FMLS brokers to create or modify real estate listings from any device with unsurpassed ease, utilizing artificial intelligence to pre-populate fields and ensure accuracy and compliance. Brokers can use the tool to put listings in multiple MLSs of their choice at the same time, eliminating dual-entry of listings, Remine Listing Input also includes an Input API, which means brokerage companies and vendors can integrate it with their own systems in order to control listing creation process while remaining compliant with MLS business rules.

Remine Docs is a modern intuitive, secure, and integrated end-to-end solution for creating, signing, and collaborating on contracts. It, too, is accompanied by an open API.

Remine Agent Pro is a comprehensive application that includes an intuitive front-end and CRM, CMA, search and Client Portal tools powered by seamlessly integrated nationwide public record and MLS data.

“Remine gives us a total solution, which enables us to deliver a far better experience to our members,” explained Jeremy Crawford, FMLS’ CEO. “The days of cobbling together piecemeal solutions with outdated, inflexible systems must end if we are to move toward the future with confidence and exclusively provide our Georgia brokers and agents the best in class products, services and CE accredited training.”

“FMLS is natively data dictionary platinum certified and offers MLS data access to brokers and technology providers via the Platinum certified RESO Web API. The addition of these Remine products further build on a foundation of these standards” noted Crawford.

“We are excited and honored to be working with an innovative organization like FMLS that is committed to a high standard of MLS performance and service” noted Mark Schacknies, Remine’s CEO. “This is a win for all FMLS members, and especially for brokerages, who are now empowered to modernize the process of listing creation, and reporting through our open API’s.”

Remine Agent Pro is now available to all FMLS Members.
